Do you have an aunt or uncle who is very special to you? Sometimes kids have an aunt or uncle who lives close to them and spends lots of time with them. Other times an uncle or aunt may live far away but is still able to call, email, and send letters or gifts to the children who are special to them.

I know some kids who think their Aunt Barb and Uncle Ed are the best aunt and uncle in the world. Barb and Ed do not have kids of their own, so they like to spoil the children of their brothers and sisters. They have big jobs that keep them quite busy, but they still make time for the kids. They even giggle at the kids' silly jokes! The kids like the fact that Barb and Ed really listen to them. When the kids were young they would never grumble about how much noise they made or complain about the messes they made when they jumped in puddles. As a matter of fact, Ed sometimes jumped in the puddles too!

Spending time with Barb and Ed is a great treat. They live on the water so sometimes Uncle Ed takes the kids for a boat ride. Barb plays games like Scrabble® with the kids or settles down with a good fable story or video with them. Best of all is playing with Barb and Ed's dog. The first dog they had was a beagle named Barney. He died a few years ago. The kids, and Barb and Ed miss him a lot. The new dog's name is Jackson. Jackson is lots of fun and is always happy to see the kids.

Now that the kids are older, they are busy and do not visit with Aunt Barb and Uncle Ed as much. Barb and Ed try to stay close to them and get to see them from time to time. Aunts and uncles can be very special parts of a family.
